ALOM Automotive Supply Chain Solutions Deliver Best-in-Class Performance

A decade of quality-driven supply chain experience and technology leadership have established ALOM as an award-winning supplier to the automotive industry.

Advanced technology is an integral part of each vehicle produced. Yet the automotive industry has been challenged to blend the technology supply chain, known for rapidly changing specifications and short shelf-life, with the automotive supply chain, known for multi-year planning cycles. Over the past decade, ALOM data and system engineering capabilities have supported significant technology development programs in the automotive sector.

ALOM, headquartered in Northern California's Silicon Valley excels in meeting the supply chain requirements inherent in today's technology industry product lifecycle. Working with technology industry leaders in the automotive world, ALOM engineers provide vertical sourcing expertise, technology planning tools, vendor management, and world-class turn-around. We work with technology and content vendors to ensure that specifications remain compatible with the vehicle technology design.

As a global leader in supply chain management, ALOM partners with our clients by expertly managing their key business functions, enabling them to apply their resources to the crucial work of innovation. Our strong supplier network, flawless quality record and 100% on-time shipping from 17 global locations will keep automotive suppliers and dealers happy, and establish long-term customer brand loyalty.

ALOM supports Ford Motor Company with sourcing, duplication and global distribution of MyFord Touch® SD card navigation system updates. Rapid scalability provides 100% on-time global delivery of time sensitive data.

Customer Success

Ford Motor Company

Committed to sustainability, we work with all stakeholders to reduce environmental impacts. For example, the “Ford Recycle for Charity” program donates proceeds from updated and recycled SD card media to Ford supported charitable organizations.
